

Do not permit Cellular Telephone Use Aboard Airborne Aircraft, as you are currently considering. Flying domestically in the US is one of the most annoying, least enjoyable travel experiences we have. Adding the ability of every yahoo on the plane to loudly talk throughout the flight will only make this worse, and discourage me from taking airlines whenever I have any available alternative. Please listen to the public on this issue, and not the airlines and telecom giants who are lining your pockets.